

YOUR TEAM RESET WORKSHEET

Many team leaders have been remarkable in guiding their teams through a once in a century disruption.

Now leaders require a team process to regularly take stock and reposition in the midst of sustained uncertainty.

Introducing the Team Reset.

STEP ONE

Clarification for the team leader

By answering the following questions (utilise notes area on next page), you'll gain clarity around your current situation and what you aim to gain from your Team Reset.

What do you aim to achieve with your Team Reset?

What has been happening for the team and the business?

How clear is the vision or strategy?

How relevant is the vision or strategy?

Does everyone understand and are they on board?

How do other stakeholders see it?

If nothing changes what will happen?

What are your next steps?

Who or what can support you?

STEP TWO

The team reset

Get the team together, use the questions provided within the Reset Wheel to commence the Reset Process.

There is a notes area on the following page you can use.

If you'd like to discuss your results with Murray, please contact him via email at murray@murraywright.com

Find more useful tools at murraywright.com.au

YOUR TEAM RESET WORKSHEET

STEP ONE QUESTIONS

What do you aim to achieve with your Team Reset?

What has been happening for the team and the business?

How clear is the vision or strategy?

How relevant is the vision or strategy?

Does everyone understand and are they on board?

How do other stakeholders see it?

If nothing changes what will happen?

What are your next steps?

Who or what can support you?

STEP TWO RESET NOTES